Hello fellow techie women!
Here is the newsletter for the week of November 3rd.

~~~~~~~~~~~~~~
NEW WESiT Research Salon
Come join us for WESiT’s first Student Salon! This is a great opportunity to network and socialize and to hear about the research of WESiT members across multiple schools and disciplines, in an informal environment. We have some really interesting research this month ranging from Twitter to Health Informatics to much more! Keep a look out for more information on the speakers and their research! Food will be provided.

Date: Tuesday, November 11th
Time: 6:30pm - 7:30pm
Where: TBD
RSVP: HERE

WESiT R-House Lab Trip
Want to see some robots in action and how tools like the 3D printer operates? Come to join WESiT R-House Lab trip on November 7th! The R-House is a “living lab” for research in robotics and human-robot interaction. It is directed by Prof. Selma Šabanović and hosts researchers, students, and visitors interested in studying Human-Robot Interaction (HRI) through the design and evaluation of robotic technologies for everyday use. Limited spots available on this trip, so RSVP soon if you are interested!

Date: Friday, November 7th
Time: 4:00pm - 5:00pm
Where: 919 E 13th Street, The white house on the corner of 13th and Forrest

NEW Third General WESiT Meeting
Join us for our third monthly meeting of the semester! Daniel McDeavitt will give a presentation about Adobe Creative Suites and the different programs it has to offer! We will also be having more delicious food! See you there!

Date: Monday, November 17th
Time: 7:00pm - 8:00pm
Where: Informatics East 150

CEWiT is Hiring a Graphics Design Intern
CEWiT is looking for an undergraduate student to serve as a graphic design intern to support our visual branding. This person will be responsible for creating clear, engaging graphics used on all CEWiT social media pages, on the CEWiT website and e-mail campaigns, and in print communications. The internship will begin in the Spring 2015 term, but some training will take place in late November or Early December. See the more detailed job description and find out how to apply HERE.

Spring 2015 Course: Gender and Computerization
ILS-Z544 (grad) or INFO-I399 (undergrad) Looking for an interesting and relevant class to take next semester? Gender and Computerization, taught by Professor Susan Herring, explores how gender roles and gender identities relate to a range of computer technologies, from early mainframes, to the internet, to artificial intelligence agents and robots. A few of the topics covered in this class are the "gender computing gap" in the IT workplace, the role of stereotypes in IT, and how technology designed by women may narrow the gender computing gap. Read more about the class HERE and contact Professor Susan Herring at herring@indiana.edu.

Research Assistant Position - Needed Immediately!
Research Assistant needed immediately for an ongoing project studying workers and the labor politics of crowdsourcing platforms. The project involves social scientists and computer scientists conducting qualitative and quantitative research. This job call is for someone to assist with the quantitative work. The Research Assistantship requires a commitment to 10 hours per week (minimum) but work hours are flexible. Pay dependent on experience and skills (but in line with campus RAship pay rates). Download a more complete job description HERE. For information about the project see: research.microsoft.com/crowdwork or contact Mary L. Gray at MLG@indiana.edu for more details.

NEW Job Opportunities with Epic
If you’d like a career that is both challenging and meaningful, consider Epic, a worldwide leader in electronic health records. They create and implement integrated software products for many of the largest healthcare organizations in the US, including Kaiser Permanente, Stanford and Yale, and they are expanding overseas. Currently, 54% of Americans are taken care of by physicians who use Epic software. We are now hiring for several technical teams, including Technical Services and Software Development. See the details for these positions here.

Game Developers Conference - Volunteer Opportunity
The Game Developers Conference is taking place March 2-6, 2015 in San Francisco. There will be tutorials, round tables, and discussions facilitated by leading industry experts. Attend the conference for free, and earn a little money, by volunteering for 25 on-site hours!

Applications for the Game Developers Conference are due January 1st.

Join our Private Facebook Group, WESIT Discussion!
This private Facebook group has been created to allow us to discuss relevant topics, upcoming and past events, or even just mingle with fellow members! We will be able to communicate more frequently and on specific topics with the WESIT Discussion page; however, still like us at facebook.com/iuwesit!
