Hello fellow techie women! Here is the newsletter for the week of March 30th. (NOTE: We apologize if you received two copies of this newsletter this afternoon. We had incorrect information we wished to fix so had to resend it.)

~~~~~~~~~ WESiT and CEWiT News and Events ~~~~~~~~~~

Positions still available on the WESiT Board
We are still looking for students to fill the Secretary and PhD Co-Chair positions within WESiT. If you are interested, please send to wesit@indiana.edu by Sunday, April 5th. A recent picture/headshot, a description of your previous involvement in WESiT and, for each selected position, a paragraph or two explaining your interest and qualifications.

Social Media SIG Workshops TONIGHT & TOMORROW
The new CEWiT Social Media Special Interest Group (SIG) is offering FREE workshops. Each workshop will be offered twice, so if you can't make one this week, check out THIS flyer to see when a workshop will be offered again. Attendees are encouraged to bring their laptops or tablets, and to RSVP.

1. Improving Your Personal Brand: A Hands-on Personal Social Media Brand Audit: In this workshop, you will learn how to define your personal online brand; methods to change your brand; ensure that the right people are able to find you online; create a Google+ snippet; create a compelling resume on LinkedIn; find strong keyword choices; and maintain your online brand.
   - Date: Tuesday, March 31st
   - Time: 7:30 - 9:00pm
   - Where: Scholar's Commons, Room E159, in the East Tower of the Wells Library
   - RSVP: HERE

2. Social Strategy: Creating And Executing A Social Media Strategy For Yourself Or Your Organization: In this workshop, you will learn how to create a basic social media strategy for yourself, your organization, or a small business; measure the success of your strategy and adjust it as necessary; and understand how to reach your desired audience and get them to engage.
   - Date: Wednesday, April 1st
   - Time: 7:00 - 9:00pm
   - Where: Scholar's Commons, Room E159, in the East Tower of the Wells Library
   - RSVP: HERE

WESiT High-Tech Firm Stock Valuation and Decision Making Workshop
What do you need to know as a successful, female, high level executive in a high tech firm? Why does every CEO spend 80% of their time at work with investors? This workshop will show you how to evaluate your company stock price and how to make smart decisions as a leader in high tech firms. (No prior business knowledge is required.)
   - Date: Thursday, April 9th
   - Time: 6:00 - 7:00pm
   - Where: SPEA 275
   - RSVP: HERE

CEWiT is hiring!
The Indiana University Center of Excellence for Women in Technology (CEWiT) is hiring two students for the following positions the 2015-2016 school year. More information can be found HERE.

- Undergraduate PR Intern: This person will be a contributor to all aspects of CEWiT’s communication, including content creation, media relations, and oversee social media channels (Facebook, Pinterest, Twitter, LinkedIn and YouTube). We are looking for a highly motivated self-starter who can leverage her existing knowledge and connections to support CEWiT’s mission and garner results. A successful candidate will be instrumental in executing public relations strategy, positioning events in the news media (including through social media) and providing support to CEWiT’s mission. Excellent written communication skills, ability to think creatively, and strong organizational skills are a must. Please submit a resume, cover letter, and writing sample to Julianne Marin at juljumar@indiana.edu by April 10th.

- Graduate Assistant: This person will report to the Program Manager and work closely with the Director, as well as the faculty, staff, and student alliances. Duties of this position include, but are not limited to researching, creating, and coding (HTML) content for the CEWiT website and eNewsletter, supporting CEWiT staff and volunteers in planning events and programs, assist with coordination the Techie Women Have More... Conference, and representing CEWiT at campus events and programs. Please submit a resume, cover letter, and a link to online portfolio (if you have one) to Jenny Hertel at hjh3@iu.edu.

Careers with Epic
Epic is a worldwide leader in healthcare software, caring for over half of Americans. The company is looking to connect graduating students in Women Empowering Success in Technology (WESiT) to challenging, meaningful careers in healthcare IT, specifically their Problem Solver (Technical Services) role. As a problem solver, you will build strong and lasting relationships with your customers and deliver top-notch technical guidance. You’ll apply your creativity and problem-solving skills to design unique solutions, from improving efficiency and patient safety to optimizations and software upgrades. You will get to combine a meaningful purpose in healthcare with your strong problem solving and people skills. Submit your resume HERE and email Gillian Fortney at Gillian@epic.com for more information!

IUAA Paid Student Fellowships for Academic Year 2015
In Fall 2015, IUAA will launch the inaugural class of the IU Alumni Student Fellowship program for IUB students. By creating a fellowship of highly engaging students who are eager to learn and gain experience, the IUAA will be identifying, inspiring, involving and investing in the next generation of IU citizens.

- IUAA will identify high potential applicants who understand and carry forward the spirit and culture of being a Hoosier.
IUAA will inspire these young student professionals with a meaningful experience that’s wildly useful and seriously fun. IUAA will involve its staff, IU alumni, and campus partners to make the most of the student fellowship experience. IUAA will invest in the professional and personal growth of the next generation of IU citizens, acting as a catalyst for these students to create a culture of support and service.

Job descriptions can be found HERE and may compliment many of your current extracurricular involvements. Open to all students, these positions would start in August 2015 with about 10-12 hours/week at $10-12/hour with highly sought-after professional references following successful completion. Event planning, working with former IU athletes, Homecoming, social media writing, and graphic design are a few of many areas they hope to provide experience in. You can also contact Emilie Sperling at esperlin@iu.edu or via phone at 812-855-7415.

Digital Media and Learning (DML) Research Hub

A new open online course — designed for graduate students, postdocs, junior scholars, and early career professors figuring out a professional pathway and/or delving into design-based research — is being offered this spring by the Digital Media and Learning (DML) Research Hub.

DML Commons has two tracks: the “Professional Pathways” strand that provides a platform for junior scholars to create and share resources of benefit to their scholarly community, learn from the life experiences and endeavors of other DML researchers in the field, and discover practical ways to develop and shape their own professional pathway; and the “Design Research” strand that aims to support junior scholars in using design to bridge research and practice. The free course begins with an orientation session March 23 to April 5, and continues through May 31 with four units per strand, each featuring two webinars. An orientation session to the new site features live webinars — from 10 to 11 a.m. PST on March 23 and March 30. To learn more about the course and to sign up, visit dmlcommons.net.

For more information see these two flyers: Design Based Research Webinar and DML Commons Overview.
